Ahh, Summer..

When our minds turn to thoughts of....portable metrology? Well, they will when you find out that you can get a great deal on an entry level ROMER Stinger Ili measuring arm.

ROMER arms are the ultimate in portable industrial measuring solutions, and can be used anywhere: on the shop floor, inside a CNC, even outside. So it's not only perfect for all your shop floor industrial measuring applications like sheet metal fabrication, tube geometry measurement, and welded assemblies, it's also ideal for all those important summertime precision measuring applications like the distance between two trees to hang the hammock, the area of the grill for maximum burger coverage, and the length of that trophy fish.

But seriously, there is no better time to buy ROMER than this summer, where you can get a great deal on the entry level Stinger, and you don't have to worry about paying for it until 2010. Don't get stung, get a Stinger. Inquire Online
